

Tulsa SC Hopes to Ride the Momentum into Their Last Home Game Versus South Star FC: Game Preview

Tulsa SC (4-0-1) aims to end their homestand undefeated Saturday evening at the Union High School Soccer Complex versus South Star FC (2-0-3). Tulsa has conceded a total of 2 goals this season and, they have won 4 of their overall five games.

"(I am) really looking forward to our match Saturday... I feel like the past two games have been the best soccer we've played all season." - Coach Mike Schwarz

Previously in the season, these two teams met down in Texas, where a single goal from Mia Darden was just enough to get Tulsa SC their first win of the 2021 season. South Star has yet to beat Tulsa since they joined the WPSL in 2019. In their last meeting, the two teams went head-to-head with equal opportunities on both sides. Tulsa came back home with a 1-nil win. Since then, South Star has won 2 of their last four games.

Table Talk

Tulsa is still the leader of the Northern Division in the Red River Conference with 12 points. South Star and OKC have 6 points; FC Dallas remains with 4, and the Spurs with 1. With the teams still having three to five games left to play, a big lead from Tulsa still does not secure the title for them yet.

Next up

After the game against South Star, Tulsa will be traveling to Texas to finish their last two games of the 2021 season. Out of their five games, Tulsa played two away games. One of them being their only loss against OKC. Coach Schwarz is hopeful to end the home season with a win.

"One of our goals as a team was to go undefeated at home and we're 3/4 of the way there, so that will be my challenge to the team tomorrow. With a win, we will put ourselves in a great spot atop the North standings"
